

Brooklyn

Angel Haze

so why, why why?
say yeah
say yeah
it's probalby not wise to love me hard — mostly my thoughts are ugly oh, enough enough talking about how i feel inside do you feel alright?
when i'm gone you still feel alright?
you know, heavy clouds got silver linings but the light inside you makes it feel so bright — she's a baby she's delicate all of her petals have metal tips she won't let you touch her she's celebrate she want angles only she's heavens sent she don't belive in god like she used to she don't call or cry or pray no more she take longer flights than most birds — but when she touch down she can't stay no more i just keep saying
why did you leave?
i just keep asking her
why not believe?
she always says
it's just not for me the truth still stand but what — is what leaves godd-mn, i see what you mean hold on to nothing 'cause everything leaves everything leaves i guess on the ground that's all you can see i know you're running you got nothing to — forgot it
hope you be what you find just sitt still
you'll be healed
in time
i don't mind
oh, i see you reaching for him searching through weeds for — you shouldn't be someone else — you

in the palm of your hands i feel —
'cause i know you're running
you got nothing to — forgot it
hope you be what you find
just sitt still keeping still i'm still out there somewhere oh, out there somewhere someone who loves
someone who —
someone who —
you shouldn't be no one else you should love
you should love
yourself
don't you ever wanna go back to brooklyn?
when the sun shone bright and things didn't hurt
don't you ever wanna go back to brooklyn?
maybe rewind time and make things work? those big green bright bright eyes stairing down at me whoah, what a memory huh?
what a memory

Lyrics provided by <https://www.omusic.in/>