

Two Shades of Blue

Rod Stewart

Pack your bags and your radio
You don't live here anymore
Take your time as you walk out that door
I don't cry us any long
It don't matter what you wear
It's all over now crying
Two shades of blue tangled up in you
Don't be sad if I said wrong thing
I don't let yours anymore
Take a walk on the wild side now
Love don't live here anymore
I don't worry about those things
When all is said and done
Two shades of blue tangled up in you
Slow down honey by that door
Wait for no one anymore
Crying tender with your arms spread wide
Or don't cry [Incomprehensible]
I don't worry what dress you wear
It's all over now, my dear
Two shades of blue tangled up in you
