

Give It All

Paul Balancio

Do you hear the sky I think it is rain
Do you see the flowers get touched across that window pane
Can you feel the wind across my face
Can you taste the sweetness of the beauty of this day
Do you hear the thunder of the clouds
Do you see the sun appear the sky when all is gone
Can you feel the rivers as they flow
Can you taste the summer nights right underneath the cold
How much could it seem so hard to make my life to easy
And I know that I am willing for the future I'm uncertain
Of all the things right in this world
Don't need to have it this I'm sure
And I'd give it all
I'd give it all
I'd give it all
For you
Do you hear my voice is it loud and clear
Do you see my eyes reflecting there upon those tears
Can you feel the mountains as they speak
Can you taste the sweetness of the words within this beat
How much could it seem so hard to make my life to easy
And I know that I am willing for the future I'm uncertain
Of all the things right in this world
Don't need to have it this I'm sure
And I'd give it all
I'd give it all
I 'd give it all
How much could it seem so hard to make my life to easy
And I know that I am willing for the future I'm uncertain
Of all the things right in this world
Don't need to have it this I'm sure
And I'd give it all
I'd give it all
I 'd give it all
For you
