

Goodnight, Sun

Nahko

Goodnight, sun
I love the colors you've chosen to close with
Goodnight, sun
And the rays and how they are woven Watching me watch you fall over the ocean
Putting a spin on my inner emotion
Warming my face for this evening's devotion
I hope someone else sees you how I see you seeing me
Goodnight, sun Do you recall what we spoke of last evening?
You said that I need to be more forgiving
I was ashamed that you caught me bereaving
I could fix all of my problems by leaving
Off in the distance, I heard someone singing
Goodnight, sun
Goodnight, sun
Goodnight, sun
Goodnight, sun Goodnight, sun
Did you see me stretch and wave good morning?
Goodnight, sun
And I love the way you look in the morning Am I as prideful as you say that I am?
I mumble loudly and work through the silence
The only thing constant is your humble presence
To the other side of the world: get ready for the message of the sun
Goodnight, sun If I awake and I cannot see your face
This little light of mine will brighten up a dark place
I can see clearly now what I am to do
All of these changes I struggle and tremble through, with you
Goodnight, sun
Good evening, moon
Goodnight, sun (Good evening, moon)
Goodnight, sun (Good evening, moon)
Goodnight, sun (Good evening, moon)
Goodnight, sun (Good evening, moon)
Goodnight, sun (Good evening, moon)
Goodnight, sun (Good evening, moon)
Goodnight, sun (Good evening, moon) You're amber, orange, and autumn
This is my salutation
I won't be one who's forgotten your glory
You are my salvation
