

Running Away With My Heart

Tim Ellis

Your love is running away with my heart
Your love is running away
Your love is running away with my heart
Your love is running away Out of the blue you came to me
Through all the madness
The distant call of destiny
Ending the sadness From there beyond the horizon
Somehow you touch my soul
Your love is running away with my heart
Your love is running away
Your love is running away with my heart
Your love is running away The sweetest dream we know is ours
Full with emotion
Until we kiss we'll share the stars
Across the ocean Far as the rainbow and sunrise
But still closer than a touch Your love is running away with my heart
Your love is running away
Your love is running away with my heart
Your love is running away
The lonely wait
For the arms of perfect night
And lay awake
In the dark imagined light
From there beyond the horizon
Somehow you touch my soul
Your love is running away with my heart
Your love is running away
Your love is running away with my heart
Your love is running away
