

Valediction

The Foreign Exchange

No need to remove your coat
No need to take off your shoes
Usually you can stay
But not today, not today no
This place is no longer yours
And I left your things right by the door
Please don't be that way
Not today, not today no
Our love is such a rush
But inside it's slowly killing me
Nothing more for me to say
Not today, not today no
So we must say our goodbyes
To all of the pain and the lies
Nothing's been more true
Than these words to you
I've been changed,
and rearranged and,
it's not it was before.
And, when the sunrise
I'll show her why
She can't keep me anymore...
Me anymore
