

Stolen Credit Card!

Four Year Strong

Beat by beat and line by line
I've got a hole in my heart that once held pride
For 15 years I did my time
Watched my life pass right before my eyes
I'm fading into unfamiliar
I'm spending my time holding my breath
If you're gonna tear me down
Then you better have both feet planted on the ground
Open up your eyes and let the light in
Take a shot in the dark
I've got my ear to the ground and my eye on the prize
Take a leap of faith without learning to fly
It's my time to shine
I'm gonna light up the world
Until I'm the last one standing
Locked inside a room without a door
I found a crack spreading out along the floor
I saw a bright light through the divide
So I dug my way through to the other side
What happened to the burning desire for you to pull yourself back to your feet
All the years knowing the truth, with nothing to lose
In time the stars will align and show you the proof
But will it matter to you if I ever pull through Save me
Bring me back to life
