

Honour Your Mother and Father

Desmond Dekker

Honor your mother and your father
That your days may be long on the land
Children, obey your parents and the law
This is the law of the prophets Honor your mother and your father
That your days may be long on the land
Children, obey your parents and the law
This is the law of the prophets Love your parents as how you love yourself
Do onto others as they would do to you Honor your mother and your father
That your days may be long on the land
Children, obey your parents and the law
This is the law of the prophets Love your parents as how you love yourself
Do onto others as they would do to you
Honor your mother and your father
That your days may be long on the land
Children, obey your parents and the law
This is the law of the prophets
