

When Will it Rain

Jackyl

When will it rain, I feel the heat burning through my shoes
Soft shoulders are getting harder adding to my blues
Can't count the days gone by, can't wish away the stain
On the life behind me from which I came The day is getting longer
The heat is getting hotter
The sun will show no mercy, my nights are spent in vain
I chose this long road and on it I remain

When will it rain

CHORUS

When will it rain

Can't stand this heat from the road, can't stand the pain

When will it rain

It's burning holes in my shoes, won't you tell me

When will it rain

I think I'm going insane

When will it rain

I'm on the road that will never take me home

When will it rain When will it rain my mouth is as dry as desert sand

And I've tried to hide in every corner of this land

You can't lose the things attached or that's what they say

Things I loved, attached or not, I've thrown away

The day is getting longer

The heat is getting hotter

The sun will show no mercy, my nights are spent in vain

I chose this long road and on it I remain

When will it rain CHORUS Is it ever gonna rain I've walked for miles and miles in a dead man's shoes

You can walk, you can run, but can't hide from the blues

And I've felt the pain of the world falling down on me

All I need is a little cool rain to set me free The day is getting longer

The heat is getting hotter

The sun will show no mercy, my nights are spent in vain

I chose this long road and on it I remain CHORUS When will it rain

Can't stand this heat from the road, can't take the pain

When will it rain

It's a burning holes in my shoes, won't you tell me

When will it rain

Must be going insane

When will it rain

I'm on the road that will never ever take me home When will it rain

When will it rain

When will it rain

I feel the heat of the sun burning down on me
When will it rain
Bring on the rain
When will it rain
All I need is a little cool rain
When will it rain
