

Modern Love

Matt Nathanson

she said this talking kind of wears me out and all these salesmen baby, make me tired they're no good, to tell you the truth, she said I've been getting used to liars they send me love songs, with store bought words they make me promises, like politicians so we stumble and disconnect over and over again this modern love is not enough she said, watch your back I'm nobody's girlfriend this modern love is not enough oh oh oh oh oh oh
They said one big exhale never did me no, good I'd let 'em in, I
Oh man, I'd let 'em win I'd burn my house down just to hear them scream my name I've carried hopes and heavy daydreams she said but I'm done with sleeping take the phone calls take this circus take the drama, cause baby it's just worthless this modern love is not enough she said, watch your back
one big exhale never did me no good and the bright light shines still we ache and we break and we try stage light shines and they blind our eyes to it all still we ache and we break and we just can't get it right this modern love is not enough
oh oh oh oh oh oh Oh this modern love is just a taco truck come on take the phone calls, baby I'll take all the silence this modern love is not enough oh oh oh oh oh oh yeah, one big exhale never did me no good one exhale one big exhale yeah one exhale never did me no good never did me no good
