

Deafening Silence

Machine Head

Well, She looked right into my eyes and said to me
The hurt that you try to hide is killing me
I drink a thousand lies, to freeze the past in time I've tried to fill this silence up
But now it's back again See the pain in my eyes
See the scars deep inside
My god, I'm down in this hole again
With the laughter I smile
With the tears that I cry
Keep going down this road called life Well, She says that I'm insecure, I guess she's right
Cause just when I think I'm sure, alone at night
The agonies come back, this pain won't let me be
I try to fill this silence up
But now it's back again See the pain in my eyes
See the scars deep inside
My god, I'm down in this hole again
With the laughter I smile
With the tears that I cry
Keep going down this road called life
Don't need your sympathy
I just want for this silence to stop killing me It's deafening
It's deafening
This silence inside me I try to fill this silence up
But now it's back again
It's empty like suicide
This pain inside
See the pain in my eyes
See the scars deep inside
My god, I'm down in this hole again
With the laughter I smile
With the tears that I cry
Keep going down this road called life
Don't need your sympathy
I just want for this silence to stop killing me
