I thought I could reach you if I kept chasing
So I've never even doubted for a moment
Finally, I held you after only imagining it
I held you so tight with my two hands butIn my arms, only emptiness remained
I was wandering and then finally realized
That I had to let you goThe moment I woke up
From the dream I kept deceiving myself
I feel the light spilling onto meI wanna be myself I don't care
Even if it feels unfamiliar just don't care
The moment I escape from you
I can see everything
Now I know now I know
What I needed was me
I'm gonna go wherever my feet take me
I feel the light, I feel the lightI was running to you just like always
Then I realized
That all of me was pointed to you
The closer I got to you
The more I lost myselfLike the leaves fallen under the tree
Even if I get covered by snow and get trampled on
I will get over you and leave to find spring
Any remaining feelings will be sent off to the windThe moment I escaped the tunnel
That trapped me in that dream
I feel the light spilling onto meI wanna be myself I don't care
Even if it feels unfamiliar just don't care
The moment I escape from you
I can see everything
Now I know now I know
What I needed was me
I'm gonna go wherever my feet take me
I feel the light, I feel the lightI was afraid of letting you go
But I have no choice
It's all good nowI wanna be myself I don't care
Even if it feels unfamiliar just don't care
The moment I escape from you
I can see everything
