

In Sadding Around

Jawbreaker

Sleeping off the last five years takes another five
Recovery in lieu of being here right now
When I throw myself at your feet you know it's to be walked on We're breaking up every single night If I had a choice don't you think I'd make it?
I lost my voice, hope I didn't break it
Little demons by my bed
Whisper secrets, the kind you never hear I dip my toe in this cold, cold life
I want to dive but I can't find your feet
You with a view so unlike my own
I'm trying on your eyes
So I let go, fall to the ground
It's a long way down again Petty cons keep peeling back my ears, we make plans
Collaborate and give to you my better half
Until now just dead weight, a prisoner of doubt
In a cell we kiss and tell all our keepsakes I dip my toe in this cold, cold life
I want to dive but I can't find your feet
You with a view so unlike my own
I'm trying on your eyes So I let go, fall to the ground
It's a long way down again
Sore, hit the floor, got my first glimpse of the sky
The stars were on your side
Who would've thunk the thirteenth fell on Friday?
I say hello and it's goodbye again
