

Where It Started From

Lawrence

Can we take a minute
Pretend it all is just the same
Hard to tell when you're in it
If anything has really changed
I know it cool
Alright
To play this charade, just one night
But when the time comes
Could we take it back, to where it started from
Could we take it back, to where it started from
If we only let it
Would it all fade away
Might we just forget it
If we don't choose, to make it stay
And I know this hazy in between
Is like a confused, and lucid dream
But when the time comes
Could we take it back, to where it started from
Could we take it back, to where it started from
So where are we going to?
Where are we going to?
Where are we going to?
So we can make our promise
But whose to say, if they will keep
I know that's all you wanted
I could say, the same for me
So who knows what's held for us, in store
I secretly wish I know for sure
But when the time comes
(When the time comes)
That we'll take it back
That we'll take it back
That we'll take it back
To where it started from
That we'll take it back
To where it started from
We'll take back
To where it started from
We'll take it back
Take it back
So where are we going to?
Where are we going to?
Where are we going to?
