

Disconnect

The Dangerous Summer

I can't start wishing that I went for something more but I can dream between my losing faith and now I've got plans of stay proud
with every single scream I'll find my place in every city.
No, never lose my voice I stood there counting all the days 'til I was free I can't sleep, I'll drive the 30 miles home but I can't breathe but I'm still proud of every single day
Is something killing me again?
I need to get away from all the things that made me lose my mind before, and I know
this time everything (this time everything) is gonna be alright (is gonna be alright)
take it slow, so you know that it's real more than just tonight (tonight, tonight) and what if every word (and what if every word) escaped my mouth tonight (escaped my mouth tonight)
and I watch as the world took its toll on my lips and my lips told my voice that to let my mouth make prize So what if my house is just a van and I'm in love Would I drive without the miles out west to disconnect
I know I've got this in my head so what if music changed my life will it ever changed my mind
is gonna be alright (is gonna be alright)
what if every word (what if every word)
took its toll on my lips and my lips told my voice that to let my mouth make prize With all it took apart in my head I'll keep you singing along for all that I can when I'm afraid of all the nightmares that were true and I'm just giving out my dreams again I'll never wonder what I'll be Why can't you help me find it once again you were never one to give up on this town to give up on this town and this time everything is gonna be alright to give up every word and change my life tonight I'll change my life tonight
