

The Silent Dark

Novembers Doom

Here in the silent dark
The emptiness reveals my heart
Why are you so ashamed of me?
Living in a secret that no one sees For all the tears I have cried
Embracing sins of my past
Its those who surround me
And I see the worst in them all
I struggle with my demons
These are mine to bear
I can see your constant smile
That is until you looked at me
Dying alone, where my legacy ends
The trudging way, the honorable heir
The final breath that I'm drawing
Death rattle groan, that no one hears
I've done this to myself, I created my own hell
What a fitting place for my end I have been my final draw
No longer can I stop the ache
Bleeding out all the honesty
Leaving an empty shell of doubt
Who is it, you see comfort in?
What is it I cannot provide?
I know of in the cover of dark
That thief in the night was me
Dying alone, where my legacy ends
The trudging way, the honorable heir
The final breath that I'm drawing
Death rattle grown, that no one hears
I've done this to myself, I created my own hell
What a fitting place for my end
Feeding the way at the full front of pain
This is mind has traveled by my very soul
I've done this to myself, I created my own hell
What a fitting place for my end My last step always hurts
With a desperate look in my eyes
Now is when I need to you to believe me
I know this was all for real
So I'll wait at the shore of failure
And I know if it happened to me
I just may deserve the exact same fate
And my path in life is ending Here in the silent dark
The emptiness reveals my heart

Why are you so ashamed of me?
Living in a secret that noone sees
My last step always hurts
With a desperate look in my eyes
Now is when I need to you to believe me
I know this was all for real
So I'll wait at the shore of failure
And I know if it happened to me
I just may deserve the exact same fate
And my path in life is ending

Lyrics provided by <https://www.omusic.in/>