

Restless Heart

Michael W. Smith

Words & Music: Amy Grant and Michael W. Smith On the street it never changes

There's a chill in the air

Icy people, empty faces

Not a word, not a soul who cares

Do you give up

Have you given in to the lie that a heart never changes

Don't be fooled by what you see there

Another man with another case of

Chorus:

One restless heart

Who never could find love

Too many hurts

To reach out again

How can he know

Love still wants to find him

One restless shell of a man

Don't look away

In a moment his life could be new

Just a moment and love could break through

Oh finally some place to start

For a man with a restless heart Why the fear then, why the worry

Why the walls holding love inside

When you're needed in the fury

In the fighting to save men's lives

Don't you give up

Don't be giving in to the lie that a heart never changes

If you reach out God'll reach in

Bring an end to another case of Chorus One restless heart, one restless heart

One restless heart, one restless heart

He's got to know that love still can find him

Love can reach any man

Don't look away

In a moment his life could be new

Just a moment and love could break through

Oh finally some place to start

For a man with a restless heart Tag:

Don't you look away

Oh never a stranger again

Love has saved a restless man

Finally some place to start

For a man with a restless heart Tag

Lyrics provided by <https://www.omusic.in/>