

Art

Taproot

Occasionally I feel like the walls around are closing in on me
Physically I feel sometimes I need seclusion to be free
The irony at last I see reality is my perception
And my personality is my reflection I must eliminate and change yesterday
Yesterday's pains today
I must eliminate and change yesterday
Yesterday's pains today I need to be set free from the smiles that are scarring my skin sarcastically
And cause it seems to comfort and freeze in full around me mentally
The irony at last I see reality is my deception
And my personality is my deflection
I must eliminate and change yesterdays
Yesterday's pains today
I must eliminate and change yesterdays
Yesterday's pains today Can I make it?
I'll try
Can I take it?
I'll try I finally feel my wounds are healing, releasing and pouring out of me
The pressure's success becoming apparently a bigger part of me
Im looking back at the things that I cant remove My past is ok with me
The future's brighter than I could imagine it to be
I must eliminate and change yesterday
Yesterday's pains today
I must eliminate and change yesterday
Yesterday's pains today

Lyrics provided by <https://www.omusic.in/>