

Color (feat. Jay Armstrong Johnson)

Todrick Hall

Every day before today was never gray
It's always black and white
Until tonight, yeah
I wasn't expecting you to have me seeing sepia
In shades of light
But it feels so right, yeah The way you touch me
The way you hold me
My heart's about to burst
You are the first to really know me
I wanna love, but first I need someone to show me
Afraid to fall in first, but that's the old me
There's something 'bout you
That makes my skies blue
And whenever we're through
All I can do is see color
There's something 'bout us
When we're together
Whenever you're there, everywhere
I see color Every second you can bet my heart's collecting
Little butterflies
When I see those eyes, yeah
When our hearts collide
I hope our world is a kaleidoscope
Cause black and white
Never shines so bright, yeah
The way you touch me
The way you tease me
I'm trying not to fall for you
But falling seems so easy
My heart was locked, but boy you got the key to free me
Invisible to love but boy you see me There's something 'bout you
That makes my skies blue
And whenever we're through
All I can do is see color
There's something 'bout us
When we're together
Whenever you're there, everywhere
I see color And maybe the world will never understand
Our kinda love Say, "That's quite enough!" But I'll fight for us I'd like to be the kinda man
You'd like to love
We've got a right to love
And baby, I'd like to love you

Cause you're my favorite hue
There's something 'bout you
That makes my skies blue
There's something 'bout us
When we're together
Whenever you're there, darling I swear
I don't see color
