

A Million Drums

Satellites

The bell starts to chime
Get on my feet I don't know why
Close the door behind
Ear breaking silence under foot
A million drums in unison beating as one Bolt of blue lightning splits the air
Erasing all before
Stops me in my tracks, splits me in two Boy runs away and turns to me
Smiles and runs into the night
I try to run, I can't keep up
A million drums in unison beating as one
All I know and all I see runs away in front of me
north is south, west is east, pull the rug from underneath
All I know and all I see runs away in front of me
north is south, west is east, pull the rug from underneath
