

Maker of Love (feat. Raheem DeV Vaughn)

Boney James

I think I can speak for all men when I say
There's something exceptional, unique, about a woman
Your cold, big smile, those pretty brown eyes
Like heaven, smooth skin, your hair in the wind
Them legs in those heels
That switch all in your wet girl
That sexy way you talk, girl
Like a Da Vinci painting, art girl
And I, if I can make you with a magic wand
I wouldn't make you no other kind of way
You was made by the maker of love
You was made by the maker of love
I wouldn't want you, couldn't have you other kind of way
You was made by the maker of love
You was made by the maker of love
Your body bath warms, them hips in that skirt
The smell of a fragrance with a taste of sweet kiss
The passion, the thrill, goosebumps and the chills
Thy wish is thy will and I'll do anything for you
See when it comes to you
I love the way it made you I wouldn't change one thing
You was made by the maker of love
You was made by the maker of love
See I, if I made you, I wouldn't change one thing
You was made by the maker of love
You was made by the maker of love
From head to toe, you were made for love
You were made for me
You were made from a spark to light up the world
With a man to have and hold, so forever for now
See, that's why I say now
You was made by the maker of love
You was made by the maker of love
If I made you, I wouldn't change a thing
You was made by the maker of love
You was made by the maker of love
See I, I know you were made by the maker of love
You was made by the maker of love
You was made by the maker of love
By the maker of love
You was made by the maker of love
You was made by the maker of love

By the maker of love
