

Mary

Zac Brown Band

Mary, Mary, why you want to do me this way?
I was dumb enough not to settle down when you wanted to Now I'm sittin' here going crazy trying to crawl back to you
Mary, Mary, why you want to do me this way?
But I was smart enough to come to my senses
Be who you need me to be
And if you say that I'm too late
I'll curl up and die in misery
Mary, Mary, why you want to do me this way
I remember our first kiss on the 4th of July I'll never miss another one of those I'll be by your side
If my foolish heart was wrong this truly was never meant to be Well I only hope that he'll count his lucky stars and love you as much as me

Lyrics provided by <https://www.omusic.in/>