

Far Away

Joel Vaughn

So many nights where I can barely sleep,
The world alive, but I can't find my peace,
I feel like you're so far away from me. I know the joy of you inside my heart,
I see the grand design and all the stars,
But I can't help but feel the distance.
Why is the moon so far away, Far away,
I feel so small in all you are.
Far away, Far away,
I feel so small in all you are.
I can't reach the stars.
I can see the galaxies at night,
And in the void of space, they shine so bright,
I get the sense there's more than you and I. Now this disease of self draws me further in,
'Till I'm crippled by the weight of sin,
You took it all upon yourself
And you sent it far away, so far away,
It's further than the edge of space.
Far away, so far away,
It's further than the edge of space.
You're takin' it all away. Cause you and I were made for so much more.
As your world collides, see the beauty that's in store.
He's not far away, far away,
Our hope is here, amazing grace.
Far away, far away,
Our hope is here, amazing grace.
Amazing grace.
