

Hey Little Mama

Fraze Ford

hey little mama
don't you take it so hard they never had the time for you you wandered in the yard with magic all around you and the golden dust of god you're all grown up, you've got a baby in your arms you're all grown up, you've got a baby in your arms between the world of the humans and your expanding heart you've been holding your own hand ever since the start now you're trying to be for somebody what nobody was for you did you think that this would be the hardest thing you'd ever do
did you think that this would be the hardest thing you'd ever do but oh, you love her like you never thought you could and oh, you love her like the moon it loves the earth well well, oh well he reminds you of your daddy with all his tricks and charms
he reminds you of your daddy every time he lets you down you believe him when he tell you he'll stop drinking for you yeah you think that if you love him maybe he will change for you yeah you think that if you love him maybe he will change for you hey little mama don't you take it so hard the things you are remembering will surface and depart and you won't feel so crazy hanging on a while and you will give to her the life that she deserves and you will give to her a life that she deserves 'cause oh, you love her like you never thought you could
and oh, you love her

like the moon it loves the earthwell yeah oh yeah
the whole world

Lyrics provided by <https://www.omusic.in/>