

Weight of the World

Good Riddance

And what about the time you did your best to assuage my troubled soul What happened to me what happened to you what was it that you said would see us through I want to know how to feel something real and I will try no more to run all this pressure getting closer and it seems like I've been here before Time on my hands
weight of the world
laid bare my soul
as I lose control
Run away
you can retrace those steps and find your way once more I'll wait
believe in yourself as the cruel world closes in take my hand
I'll be a friend for you this weight you bare alone one day
the light i know will illuminate your heart time on my hands
weight of the world
laid on my soul
as I lose control
