

I Don't Wanna Fight

Paul Balancio

Can ya mend the world of destiny don't wash it off ya feet.
You know I understand what we can see's not something when you know I, wanted you for so long, cause I miss you as I, kiss my pillow at night, as I wonder, wonder how it's been.
To be under, underneath your skin.
Wanting you to hold me,
touch me when you need me, nothing else can take my mind off anything. Can't you really stay just for a while,
I just wanna see the way you smile at me, smile at me, yea Every time you stay so close to me, all my hopes and dreams are good as far away, far away
You see me coming home,
waiting there inside,
nothing else to do,
I don't wanna fight.
The way you understand,
more than I don't know,
got me held so tight,
I don't wanna fight. I know it's obvious when it's my time to make this evening right,
And yet I try so hard for no mistake to show up as I Know you, trying me for so long,
Staring out the window at your everything.
You see me coming home,
waiting there inside,
nothing else to do,
I don't wanna fight.
The way you understand,
more than I don't know,
got me held so tight,
I don't wanna fight.
