

Broken Promises

Moments In Grace

So I've blown, I've blown it all on cures for pain,
And I've learned to regret the choices that, that I've made
I want, I want to stay awake for days
Until the sunlight washes over my face
Forgive, forget all of our broken promises
Forgive, forget all of our broken promises
We run, run, run to loose it all
These days, are darker and they draw me in
And I left a trail but no one missed me in, in the end I'll blend, I'll blend in with the shade I've been But where, where do i begin, if i want to learn to Forgive, forget all of our broken promises
Forgive, forget all of our broken promises
We run, run, run to loose it all
I felt a chill in the air and you turned as I said your name
A glance turned to a stare and you hardly knew my face
A blank page, an empty safe, things will never be the same
Forgive, forget all of our broken promises
Forgive, forget all of our broken promises
Forgive, forget all of our broken promises
Forgive, forget all of our broken promises
We run, run, run, run
We run, run, run to loose it all

Lyrics provided by <https://www.omusic.in/>